15	Environmental initiatives: A greener funeral service: The Scottish Cremation Society is a member of the Federation of Burial and Cremation Authorities (FBCA) and as such all cremations are carried out in accordance with their published Code of Cremation Practice. Glasgow Crematorium has adopted a new environmental initiative whereby a committal service may take place one day but with the actual physical cremation occurring respectfully early the following day. This approach has already been adopted in several European countries as well as elsewhere in Scotland and throughout the United Kingdom in an effort to reduce the carbon footprint of crematoria. Whilst we hope for your cooperation in our delivery of more environmentally considerate cremation services, we recognise this new environmental policy may be contrary to your express wishes. If this is the case, please declare so on page 8 of the main application form.

INSTRUCTION OF FUNERAL DIRECTORS

CONSTRUCTION OF THE COFFIN. The coffin must be made of a suitable material which, when placed in a cremator and subjected to the accepted cremation processes, is easily combustible and which does not emit smoke, give off toxic gas or leave any retardant smears or drips after final combustion. No metal furniture or fittings whatever shall be used on a coffin for cremation. No metal of any kind shall be used in the manufacture of such coffin except as necessary for its safe construction and then only metal of a high ferrous content. Cross pieces must not be attached to the bottom of the coffin. If it is desired to strengthen the bottom of the coffin, wooden strips may be placed lengthways for this purpose. External coatings to a coffin must allow for smokeless combustion and nitro-cellulose varnish, polyurethane, polyamidoamine-epichlorohydrin base resins, melamine and any products containing polyvinyl chloride (PVC) must not be used. Water based lacquer free from additives containing heavy metals may be used for coating a coffin or a suitable cloth may be used for covering a coffin. Products containing any chloride or fluorides are prohibited e.g. melamine. The exception to the foregoing in the use of polystyrene, which is restricted to the coffin nameplate only, and this must not exceed 20 grams of weight.

LINING OF THE COFFIN. The use of sawdust or cotton-wool must be avoided. If circumstances require, suitable sealing material may be used manufactured from polythene not exceeding 75 microns in thickness, but no metal, rubber or PVC will be permitted and on no account must pitch or similar substance be used. Lead or Zinc linings are not permitted, nor is the use of shredded paper within a coffin.

SIZE OF THE COFFIN. Where the external dimensions of a coffin are likely to exceed length 86 inches (218cm): width 40 inches (102cm): depth 29 inches (74cm) the duty officer at the crematorium must be given advance notice, no later than two days prior to the service. Bariatric cremations are conducted in the Old Chapel and an early morning booking time must be taken.

CLOTHING. In order to minimise the release of pollutants to air, it is recommended that clothing should be of natural fibers and that shoes or any material manufactured from PVC should not be included. Body adornments manufactured from copper should be removed, as should any easily removable prosthesis or cast of plaster or other material. Additional items, particularly of glass or plastic, should not be placed in the coffin.

NOTICE OF CREMATION. The Funeral Director must observe the Cremation Authority's regulation regarding the length of notice to be given for a cremation and the time of the cremation, as agreed, must be strictly adhered to. All statutory and non-statutory forms and certificates, as required by the Cremation Authority, must reach the recipients by the specified time (2 working days prior to the day of cremation)

CREMATION OF INFANTS. In cases where bereaved parents desire the cremation of the body of an infant, they should be warned that there may be occasions when no tangible remains are left after the cremation process has been completed. Every effort and care however will be undertaken to maximise recovery of ashes.

CREMATED REMAINS. Ashes are released in an industry standard bio-degradable receptacle.
